ARMISTICE REACHED IN CONSUL WAR

ARRESTS CERTAIN IN LAKE TRAGEDY OFFICERS ASSERT

Mer Rouge Parish Sheriff Declares Warrants Will be Out Soon.

GOVERNOR IS SILENT

Further Action in McKoin
Case Deferred Until Next Tuesday.

(By the Associated Press)

MONROE, La., Dec. 29.—Sheriff Fred Carpenter today declared there will be arrests in the Morhouse kidnapping investigation upon the return of federal investigators who were in New Orleans yesterday attending a conference with state officials.

"I have no official word of any official action of any kind," the sheriff said, "but I know that there will be arrests on the return to Morhouse of federal investigators. I have no warrants as yet, but these are to be placed in my hand within the next few days as I understand that a chain of evidence has been completed. I have no reliable information relative to the alleged confession of two persons involving 45 citizens."

Sheriff Carpenter said that while 45 citizens might be involved in the plot, he did not believe that this number were actually participants in the kidnapping of the Mer Rouge citizens and death of Watt Daniels and Thomas Richards.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—Governor John M. Parker, Attorney General Coco and the latter's assistant, and investigators of the federal department of justice, were still non-committal today as to any details of their series of conferences yesterday and last night concerning the Morhouse kidnapping case.

Attorney General Coco announced however that "the state will be prepared with an amazing collection of evidence when the open hearing begins in Bastrop, January 5."

This record, it was later asserted, already exceeds in volume that assembled in any criminal case in the history of the United States.

Adjutant General L. W. Toombs, who has recently made a tour of investigation in Morhouse parish also held a conference with Attorney General Coco yesterday and announced following the meeting that no additional troops would be sent to Monroe for the present and that no troops already there would be removed.

THREE INDICTMENTS IN FEDERAL LIQUOR PROBE

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—A federal grand jury hearing complaints against the fashionable racquet and tennis club in Park avenue today indicted on two counts twelve men charged with illegally selling more than 30,000 gallons of liquor.

The specific charges in the indictment, were conspiracy to violate the Volstead act and the internal revenue law. Federal officers said that the conspiracy, brought to their notice several weeks ago, following investigation of a "thoroughly selective circle and exclusive place."

Among those indicted were Rene La Montagne, Morgan E. La Montagne and William La Montagne, owners of the Green River distillery company and the Eminence Distillery of Kentucky. Rene La Montagne is noted as a polo player.

WOMAN IS HEIR TO LOWER MANHATTAN, SAYS OLD WILL

Mrs. Susie Beal.

Mrs. Susie Beal of Brockton, Mass., claims she is heir to a quarter of a billion dollars worth of property in lower Manhattan. A will recently discovered has revealed that Princess Annette Jan Bogarius, Mrs. Beal's great-grandmother did not barter the tip of New York for two bushels of wheat. The valuable property takes in the buildings around Trinity church. Mrs. Beal, through her attorneys, is seeking title to the land.

GOTHAM SUFFERS FIRST BIG SNOW

Volunteers Out to Aid in Clearing Streets for Traffic.

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Thousands of volunteer snow handlers were called to the shovel today to help dig New York City out of its first big storm of the season—a blizzard of snow and sleet, which started yesterday under moderate temperatures becoming overnight an icy gale which threatened to paralyze all transportation.

The storm took its toll of injured. From early last night until day-break hospital ambulances were bringing in pedestrians with arms broken, fractured legs, or cracked skulls, who had fallen victims to the treachery of the ice covered streets.

Police reported that at least two persons have been killed by falling on the thoroughfares. The wind reached highest velocity and worked havoc with above ground power and telephone wires and lines, street car transmission cable, roofs of buildings and injury to trees.

The sleet covered the tracks so thick that a part of an elevated train left the rails. Slow speed at which the cars were crawling through the blizzard is believed to have saved the hundreds of passengers from serious injury.

Railroads were asked to concentrate on maintaining unimpaired freight service in order that the city, with barely 48 hours reserve supply of coal on hand at harbor terminals might be confronted by an actual fuel famine.

THIRD IN LINE IN LIMP FAMILY TAKES OWN LIFE

Famous Brewer is Suicide
After Business Jolt
Last Spring.

WORRIED OVER LOSS

Father and Sister Took Own Lives Before Him;
Son Not Surprised.

(By the Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 29.—William J. Limp, 54, president of the William J. Limp Brewery company, committed suicide today by shooting himself two times through the heart in the office of the brewery in the southern section of the city. It was the third suicide of the family of famous brewers, his father and sister having taken their own lives.

Limp had been despondent since last June, it was said, when a great part of the brewery property was sold at a reality of only about eight cents on the dollar. He also had been in failing health, it was explained.

Limp appeared at his office at 9 a. m. today as usual, it was stated, and shortly thereafter Henry Vohlkamp, vice-president, arrived and greeted Limp.

"Well, how do you feel today?" "Oh, I feel worse," Vohlkamp said Limp replied.

Vohlkamp stated Limp had been extremely nervous for the past several months. Although his face was flushed, Vohlkamp said he tried to cheer him by saying: "you are looking better," but Limp would not be consoled, replying only "I feel worse."

Vohlkamp amplified that he went to his office as Limp's secretary, Miss Olive Berschek, arrived, believing the feeling of melancholy would wear off.

Miss Berschek explained Limp dismissed her on the pretext of an errand to the company architect in another part of the building. She had gone only a short ways, she added, when she heard two shots.

Limp's son, William J. Jr., 21, was notified and rushed to his father's side. He knelt and cried:

"You know, I knew it. I was afraid this was coming."

He declined to explain the remark.

Limp was found on his neck, a .38 caliber revolver near his right hand. A physician pronounced him dead.

Austria to Have State Cut.

(By the Associated Press)

VIENNA—More than 100,000 government employees will be discharged within the next two years under the new economy plan adopted by the Austrian government with the approval of the League of Nations.

It is proposed to discharge the public employees gradually but in such a way that at the end of two years there will be only 50,000 men on the payrolls of the state.

POULTRY SHOW IS JUDGED SUCCESS

Public Invited to Attend
Program Tonight and View Winners.

A general invitation has been extended the public to attend the poultry show this evening. Not only will there be much of interest to see, but a program has been arranged for the entertainment of the visitors. Those interested in poultry raising will have a chance to learn some valuable points on the subject from the talks of those on the program. The high school band will furnish music for the occasion beginning at 7:30. This is a treat. H. J. Huddleston, president of the association, will deliver a short welcome address. He will be followed by J. B. Hill, county agent, and Lute Douge, secretary of the association.

The show is to continue through Saturday, but as the owners of the birds will begin taking them home during the day, this evening will be the best time for the public to see the birds at their best. The judging was completed this morning and the coops of all winners tagged so that all may see the result of the contests in the various breeds.

Any one, good at guessing at the weight of chickens, will have a chance to win a prize of $5.00. A hen and six young Partridge Wyandottes are in a pen in the building and every visitor is entitled to register a guess at the combined weight of the bunch.

Winners were numerous and the entries in some classes were large. The winners as announced today follows:

White Wyandottes—Chaz. W. Ballard, Ada, 2 cock, 2 cockerel, 1 hen, 1-2 pullet, 1-3 pen, sweepstake pullet, J. F. Weldon, Ada, 3 cock, 1-2 cockerel, 2-3 hen, 3 pullet, 2 pen; C. W. Brown, Ada, 1 cock.

Partridge Wyandottes—John Skinner, Ada, all awards.

Silver Laced Wyandottes—W. J. Coffman, Ada, all awards.

White Plymouth Rocks—M. B. Taylor, Caddo, Okla., 1 cock, 1-2 cockerel, 1-2-3 hen, 1-2 pullet, 1 pen, sweepstake hen; C. A. Powers, 3 cockerel, 3 pullet.

FUNERAL STARTS; MAN IS CHARGED

Law Grinds Out Charge as Girl's Funeral Gets Under Way.

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—While funeral services were being held today for Theresa McCarthy, 10 years old, who was found dead with a bullet wound in her heart at her home in Brooklyn, Benjamin Prenderville, a postal clerk and boarder in the McCarthy home, was formally charged with her murder. He previously had been held on a homicide charge.

A little white coffin, containing the body of ten year old Theresa McCarthy, stood today on the spot where her Christmas tree had been. With her heart pierced by a bullet from a .22 caliber pistol she was found dead in the Brooklyn home of her mother, Mrs. Pauline McCarthy, late Tuesday.

Benjamin Prenderville, a clerk in the Brooklyn post office, and a boarder at the McCarthy home, who admitted to police that he owned a pearl handled .22 caliber revolver, is held on a charge of homicide. He told the police that he became frightened when he saw the girl's dead body and threw away the revolver and two others he owned of larger caliber. Police say Prenderville is a police record.

Police working on the theory that Theresa found the loaded revolver under the pillow on his bed after Prenderville and Mrs. McCarthy had gone to work Tuesday and killed herself accidentally are unable to reconcile the fact that the body was found on the floor in the dining room while Prenderville insists that he found the pistol with one chamber discharged still lying on his bed when he entered the house Tuesday afternoon.

PATTERSON FILLS VACANCY IN STATE NATIONAL GUARD

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 29.—Major Earl Patterson, U. S. P. & D. O., connected with the Oklahoma national guard, was today appointed adjutant general by Governor J. B. A. Robertson. The appointment, according to the order, was effective during a period of indisposition of Adjutant General Charles F. Barrett.

It was understood the appointment was made so that plans for bringing the guard here for Governor-elect J. C. Walton's inauguration would not be interfered with.

STAND NIGHT VIGIL

Picketing Permitted Until Claims Are Settled in Legal Dispute.

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—An amicable agreement, which precludes violence, but permits picketing, was in effect today at Irish consulate here, which has been besieged by Irish republicans since Wednesday night when Lindsay Crawford, with official papers appointing him Free State consul general took over the office. Robert Bristow, who claims he is a member of the Irish republic army, occupied one room of the office and Crawford sat at a desk in another room representing the Free State. It was indicated that this arrangement would prevail until the matter can be settled in court.

An armistice has been signed in the siege of the Irish consulate, a carried on for the past two days by forces of the Irish Free State and republicans, is the belief of reporters who called at the building where the consulate is located between midnight and dawn today and found the outer door locked.

Both Hold Ground

Late last night, Lindsay Crawford, newly appointed consul-general of the Irish Free State in New York City, was holding his inner office grimly, with a look of determination and a growth of beard on his face, which bespoke his vigil beginning Wednesday and lasting all Wednesday night and all day yesterday.

In the outer office, Robert Bristow, an officer of the Irish republican army, Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, widow of the former lord mayor of Cork, and a half dozen other representatives of the republicans, were on watch. Strolling in and out of the offices were uniformed policemen under the command of Detective Lieutenant James Gogan of the bombing squad.

Both sides had announced that they were there to stay. The police had made it known that any violence or disturbance would bring swift action. Everything seemed prepared for another long night of watchful waiting, when the newspaper men left for their offices to report progress.

When the unofficial observers returned they found the door to the building locked and they could not see any light on the tenth floor where the consulate was located or anywhere else. Then it was recalled that Mr. Crawford had asked republican representatives to test their claim to the office by recourse to the courts.

LOCAL BANKERS ALERT; CHECK UP BANK NOTES

If by chance you get possession of one of the $5 bills stolen by bandits from a federal reserve truck at the entrance of the United States mint in Denver, Colo., on December 18, you may have a hard time explaining it if you try to pass it at a local bank, according to information given out today.

All local banks have been given the serial numbers of the 40,000 bills stolen. All the stolen money is in federal reserve notes of $5 denomination. A reward of $1,000 will be paid for the arrest of anyone connected with the robbery.

The notes stolen were numbered from 20,852,001 to 20,857,000 inclusive. Each of the notes bear the name of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City in center of the silver side of the note, with serial numbers in blue letters in the lower left and upper right hand corners.

Vote on Borah Move Expected

GETTING BY

All of us are acquainted with the bright but indifferent pupil of grammar school who makes no effort to rise above a passing grade but contents himself with the mere achievement of getting by. But such a lad is not the only mortal who is satisfied with a passing mark. Every field of human life from the lowest vocation to the highest profession is full of those who content themselves with a fair success and refuse to battle towards the highest things.

What has become of the brilliant souls we admired in the old college days, whom we confidently expected to surpass the Websters and Calhouns and Whitfields and Moodys of history? We rarely hear of them nowadays. They learned enough law to get by and then quit studying. They became fair theologians and contented themselves with mediocrity. They became the leading business men of the village and went to sleep on their oars. They mastered sufficient pedagogy to make them superintendents of a village school and became content with their lot. They have simply quit growing. They have ceased the struggle for superlative achievement and are perfectly contented with getting by.

Has studying for mastery become a lost art? Really, how many book worms can you count among your adult acquaintances? Do you know a single established lawyer who still burns the midnight oil in adding to his legal knowledge? Do the physicians and teachers and ministers you know spend long hours in the library equipping themselves for larger service? Has not the matter of getting by become a universal habit?—Holdenville Democrat.

The free garden seed distribution by the government through congressmen and senators has long been a joke, and the action of the house committee in cutting out the appropriation for next year is nothing to condemn. If the seed were of good quality there might be some defense for the system, but our experience has been that they are usually very poor and uncertain. Originally the idea was to send out a few new kinds of seed to people in various sections to experiment with and the department in that way secured some valuable information. Later it was so broadened that every congressman had an allotment to send to his constituents. This was purely a scheme for cheap political boosting, but it is doubtful if a package of seed ever made a vote. At all events, a man would be selling out might cheap if he should be influenced by any such consideration. As for us we shall depend on seed of some reputable brand if we want to be certain of a good garden and will continue in the future as in the past to vote for whom we please garden seed or no garden seed.

The poultry show is highly creditable to all concerned. It proves conclusively that there are some high class birds in this part of the state and that the interest in poultry is increasing. Those who remember the first poultry show held at Ada some years ago can appreciate the rapid strides this industry has made. We know of a number of breeders who have fine flocks who are not represented this time. Had they been in the show would be even better than it is, but the essential things is that they are in Pontotoc county and are becoming more numerous all the time. A great deal of credit for the success of the show is due to a small group of breeders who devote considerable time and effort to it every year.

Several thousand men who boosted Walton's candidacy with all their being will within a few weeks be heard cussing him as a double-crosser and ingrate. These are the fellows who are applicants for office and fail to make a landing. Of course it will be impossible to cut the pie into enough pieces to go around and about nine out of ten must be left out. The disappointed ones know that it was their work that put Walton over and that their claims for reward are much better than any who are appointed, hence Walton will get a good many knocks before he is many months older.

The warring Irish factions are said to be planning to hold another peace parley. They signed a peace agreement about once a month during the past year, but still the scrapping goes on. The outside world wonders just what sort of a treaty it takes to be binding on those Irishmen, anyway.

It is a great mistake for a business man to regard competitor as an enemy whom he must put out of business at any cost. It generally happens that in a scrap of this kind the survivor is soon faced by another competitor who is harder to handle than the one he just got rid of.

AN EQUAL RIGHTS PROBLEM.

(Wilson Gazette)
That Michigan man whose wife is charged with hiring a gunman to kill him faces the possibility of being compelled to pay the cost of her defense if the petition of her counsel is sustained by the court. Financial support of a wife's legal defense, the lawyer contends, is part of a husband's legal obligation, even though she is accused of plotting his own murder. The lay mind, at first thought, may incline to the opinion that this instance is carrying marital responsibility to extremes, but the point ought to be settled in these days of open season for killing husbands. A man should know exactly what risk he is taking in matrimony. Perhaps the advocates of equal rights would be willing to include a clause requiring wives who take pot shots at their husbands to pay their own defense. Cynics may say it should be worth it.

AN ABSURDITY
(Wilson Gazette)
Anything less than a presidential proclamation calling every one "especially every official," to total abstinence will make the recent conference of governors "a farce," says a zealously dry congressman. But not as much of a farce as would the issuance of such a proclamation. Those "officials" to whom the representative refers have earned the confidence of the people, and many of them have been placed in office by popular vote. An oath of abstinence would neither increase respect for self or that of the people for them. Their oath to support the Constitution includes the eighteenth amendment and is as solemn and binding as would be the specializing oath suggested.

If officials are not disposed to comply with their obligations, an oath on the side would not make them more disposed to do so. If their duty to uphold the Constitution is not sufficiently realized, extra swearing would not help matters. And if they are as they should be, they are fully conscious of their obligations.

CONGRESS TAXES POWER, AMES SAYS

Warns Bar Association to Uphold Constitutional Rights of People.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 29. — A warning against a movement which he said is under way to give the federal congress higher powers than the Constitution of the United States, was voiced by C. B. Ames, Oklahoma City attorney, former assistant U. S. Attorney general, in an address before the bar association convention here today. Attorney Ames' subject was "Should the Courts be Controlled by the Constitution or by the Acts of Congress?"

In his address Mr. Ames said that his proposition involved the question of whether the people, "who adopted the constitution" are to remain supreme, or the congress, "which is the mere agent of the people," is to take the powers denied it by nineteen separate provisions of the basic law.

The speaker revived the proceedings of the convention which framed the federal constitution and pointed out that a subject of "frequent debate" was the veto power, finally lodged in the president alone. He said that it was at one time proposed that this power should be given to a federal council of revision, consisting of the president and judges of the federal supreme court, and that its chief duty would be to pass upon whether or not acts of congress were in conflict with the constitution. He said that it was decided that the supreme court was the proper guardian of the constitution.

He said that it was also proposed in the convention that congress should have the right to negative laws of individual states, and stated that in arguments on the question it was pointed out that insofar as such laws would be in conflict with the constitution it would be the duty of the courts to so declare them and that this was sufficient protection to the general government without vesting such a power in congress.

Mr. Ames analyzed the judicial power and said that it is fundamentally an application of the law to the facts in the controversy between two parties; that the highest duty of a court is to know the law; that if an act of congress conflicts with the constitution, both cannot be the law, and that the court must decide which is to prevail. He said that unless a court is given this power the constitution ceases to be a binding instrument upon congress.

and becomes a "mere matter of pious advice."

Proceeding in his argument, the speaker listed a number of reasons why, he said, it would be inadvisable to change the present arrangement to make the acts of congress absolute by giving them above the constitution. He said that "the very nature of a written constitution makes it necessary for a tribunal to be created bound only by the constitution in the administering of the law. If the courts are to be bound by acts of congress, instead of by the constitution, every sensible man must admit that the constitution ceases to be supreme and that the congress becomes supreme."

Condition of Winter Wheat Improved Last Week's Report

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 29. — The condition of winter wheat improved during the week just ended and considerable plowing and other out-door work was done on farms as a result of generally fair and unreasonably warm weather, according to the weekly weather and crop report issued here by the United States weather bureau. The mean temperature during the week averaged six to twelve degrees above normal, the report said.

The condition of wheat is poor in the extreme northwestern, southwestern and west central counties, where it was planted late on account of the fall drought, according to the report. It is in generally good to very good condition elsewhere. Moisture is still lacking in some of the western counties, it was said.

Native pastures were described as short and poor, but stock is generally in fair condition. Dirt roads were said to be fair to good.

Five hundred eggs were used in a Christmas cake baked in London in 1852.

suggested that enforcement be left solely to the individual states.

Lower Cost of Higher Education Democracy's Need, Says Conwell

IN direct contradiction to recent pronouncements for a college aristocracy, notably by President Cullen of Colgate University, is a declaration for higher education for all who will take it, made by Dr. Russell H. Conwell, noted lecturer and college president, on the eve of education week.

Dr. Conwell declares that higher education is getting too high for the masses to reach, and advocates educational facilities which will bring the cost down to the level of the average student's pocket.

"With the cost of a year in college hovering around $1,000, we are losing sight of our democracy of opportunity," he said. "When the average student can't afford to go to college we must bring college to him, or government by the people will go out of business."

Dr. Conwell, in his eightieth year, is contributing to democracy in education by enlarging the capacity of Temple University, Philadelphia, to 25,000 students. He started Temple University 38 years ago as a night class in a church basement. It now has 10,000 students, most of them working their way on a part time basis.

"I have no quarrel with the universities," he continued, "except that they are out of reach of the masses."

HOLLIS FARMER WHIPPED: TOLD TO LEAVE COUNTY

(By the Associated Press)

HOLLIS, Dec. 29. —Frank Day, 38, a tenant farmer living six miles northwest of here, was taken from his bed late last night by nine masked men, severely whipped and ordered to leave the community "before another sunset," according to the story he told county authorities today.

The farmer said the men accused him of manufacturing liquor and other acts.

HER HUSBAND

By MOLLY MATHER

(C. 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

The long white hall of the hospital ended at a small stone balcony. Carol, reaching this balcony, stepped out a moment to consult her card of direction. "Room No. 210," Marilyn had written, and 210 was assuredly the last in the long line and the windows of 210 looked out on this very balcony. Carol glanced within. Yes, that would be Marilyn's wounded husband, stretched so pitifully on the narrow bed. She sat down on a balcony chair to read again the appeal which had brought her to the hospital.

"Poor Jimmie," so Marilyn wrote, "it was not his fault that he was smashed in that awful automobile accident. A wild party ran into his car last Saturday when Jimmy was driving at a safe speed. He was picked up unconscious and hurried to the hospital. Both other members of his car were also injured, but Jimmie the worst of all. And there is he, away in your city, Carol, dear, while I am laid up with sickness here in my home. It will be some time before I may be able to go to the lonely boy. So this is what I ask of you, dear old faithful friend of mine—will you look after him a bit? Stop in at the hospital when you can and encourage and cheer him in your own sunny way. It will mean lots to me. And when we are both better you just must leave your everlasting study long enough to come and pay us a visit. Jim, when himself, is the dearest self you ever knew. I suppose you are slowly recovering from the surprise of my unexpected marriage, when I wrote to stun you again. But now remember, I depend on you, and I am ever yours, in loving, grateful debt, MARILYN OLIVER."

Carol smiled as she replaced the letter in its heavily sealed envelope. Wasn't that like Marilyn—exactness still, her loyalty? And she had been a loyal friend to the pretty, gay little companion of college days.

Marilyn had been loyal, too, in allegiance. Marilyn had never known what it was to be helpful. But, oh! she had been lovable. Carol was not surprised, not as much surprised as Marilyn expected her to be over the fact of the hasty marriage. Marilyn had met James Oliver during a visit to an aunt and had married him before her return. And this was to be Carol's first introduction to her friends' husband.

Well, she decided as she arose to enter room 210, she would do her best to cheer and alleviate. As she stood hesitant in the white doorway she noticed on the dresser a large photo of Marilyn. Carol, assured, entered the silent room. The man on the bed turned slowly his dark eyes toward her. It appeared that the bound body could not be turned. She saw that both patiently crossed arms were bandaged too, and she tried to smile, to hide the quick sympathy that threatened tears.

"How do you do?" asked Carol in her brightest manner. "Marilyn sent me to see you. I used to be Marilyn's roommate at school. We are the best of friends. Have you heard her mention Carol Moore?"

The dark eyes of the patient showed a gleam of interest. "I have heard her speak of you," he said—"often. It is good of you to come."

As the days passed Carol was astonished to see how much these hospital visits did help—not only her patience but her whole scheme of life. Her first thought on rising each morning was the anticipation of the good cheer she might carry to a lonely man, lying bound, motionless, in a narrow hospital bed. And strange it was how that cheer reacted upon herself. She went singing about her tasks. She thought over the clever sayings of Marilyn's husband; recalled, with a little happy thrill, the eager welcoming glance of his dark eyes—their evident regret at her departure.

Coldly determined, Carol went next day to pay her visit of farewell. Her heart pounded in an unruly manner as her late charge approached, dressed ready for his departure.

"Dearest," he said quietly, "when are you going to make me happy—as you have made me well. Do you not intend to perfect the work? Look at me; tell me, oh! my dear. Marilyn will be glad," he went on ignoring her silence. "That little matchmaker has been trying to marry me off since I was introduced to her as her bachelor brother-in-law. I am not sure that she did not think this thing out when she sent you down here to visit Jim. Fortunately, my brother was not so badly injured in our accident as I; he was permitted to go home after the first few days and I moved into his room because I liked the balcony view."

Carol leaned forward, tensely; she asked her question.

"You—are not James Oliver?"

"I," the smiling man replied, "am Jack Oliver, Jim's brother."

"It is so good to know," Carol said after a happy silence, "that I am not in love with a married man."

"You will be," the recovered patient replied, "as soon as our marriage can be accomplished."

Sticking Together.

"What! Jim a second-story man? Why, I've always believed in him." "But he's probably always stuck to his first one with you, dear."—Annapolis Log.

Laboratory for Franklin Institute To Flank Sesqui-Centennial Entry

Organization Has Encouraged Scientific Achievement for Century.

FRANKLIN Institute, a unique and venerable national institution, will begin work before the close of the year on a new home to be located on the Parkway, Philadelphia, an avenue which will be lined by the most imposing array of public buildings in America. The final cost of the three buildings to be occupied by the Franklin Institute is estimated at $2,250,000.

The Institute, 98 years old, is now housed in the original structure built by it in 1825 in a location then considered "uptown." A little shame-faced and weary in aspect, but still preserving an air of dignity and impeccable respectability, the old building is now elbowed by pawn shops, fish markets, second hand emporiums, and cider saloons. So it is going to be abandoned.

Has Wide Field

For four years after its completion this stately Greek temple, only a square away from Independence Hall, was occupied by the United States Courts as well as the Institute. Since that time it has been devoted exclusively to the sheltering of the library, museum, classes, and researches of the institution which has as its motive the fostering of science in the spirit of Benjamin Franklin.

"The Franklin Institute of the State of Pennsylvania for the Promotion of the Mechanic Arts," according to the charter granted in 1824 has a right "to have perpetual succession, to sue and be sued, implead and be impleaded, in all courts of record or elsewhere, to use a common seal, and break, alter, and renew the same at pleasure, and to take, hold, and enjoy lands, tenements, and hereditaments." It has done more than these things.

A Record of Achievement

In 1824 it held the first exhibition of American manufactures in historic Carpenters' Hall, and awarded silver medals for "steel, domestic carpets, straw and grass bonnets." Classes were established in chemistry, mechanics, natural history, architecture, mathematics, and drawing, and the first course of lectures commenced. In 1826 the first number of the Franklin Journal was issued, and a high school was established. Steam boilers, dry docks, water wheels, meteorological phenomena, uniform weights and measures, and uniform screw threads represent only a few of the fields of investigation entered in the next fifty years. A great industrial exhibit was held in 1874. Then a resolution to Congress from the Institute resulted in the holding of the first great world fair, the Centennial in 1876. Without state or federal aid the Institute held the first International Electrical Exhibition in 1884, and the organization of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers resulted. The National Export Exhibition was held in 1899. During the last war an aviation examination station, a school of navigation, and a free radio school were established and maintained.

Awards for Ingenuity

Notable among recent work of the Institute has been the encouragement of scientific investigation and achievement by a system of honorary medals. Thomas A. Edison, Sir James Dewar, the physicist, Marconi, inventor of the wireless, Alexander Graham Bell, Ralph Mojeski, bridge builder, Sir Charles A. Parsons, who developed the steam turbine, and Sir Joseph John Thomson, for his research in electricity and the constitution of matter, are among those whose accomplishments have been recognized in this way. Various companies which have produced machines of great utilitarian value, such as the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and Colt's Fire Arms Manufacturing Company, have also received awards. The latest award of this character was the Longstreth Medal, conferred on the Noiseless Typewriter Company for the invention of a "thoroughly successful commercial noiseless typewriter." The medal was presented to Dr. C. W. Colby, president of the Noiseless Typewriter Company, on November 15.

Rare Scientific Collection

The first of the new buildings to be constructed will be a research laboratory. A main building for assembly and library will follow, after which the group will be made complete by a museum, to be known as the Scientific and Technical Museum.

The Institute already has a collection of scientific books and exhibits, basic material which it has taken a hundred years to collect and which is without parallel in this country if in the world.

BRITISH RADIO EXPERT HEARS U. S. CONCERTS

J. H. Ridley, radio operator at Blackheath, Eng., and the instruments which picked up American concerts.

J. H. Ridley, with the powerful radio apparatus of Burndett, Ltd., London, Eng., recently listened in on wireless conversations between nine amateur operators in America and also picked up broadcasted concerts from the United States. This is the first time that a broadcasted concert from America has been heard in England. It hints at how radio may soon link nations.

Farmers' Column

By Byron Howell

The crow has long been regarded as an enemy to the farmer, but if a report from McKinney is true, this black bird is proving his right to live. A farmer near there reports that the crows are busy in the fields hunting and eating boll weevils. If that proves true the crow will be entitled to pull up a few stalks of young corn without being shot.

Oklahoma Crop Notes.

Oklahoma City, Dec. 27, 1922. Inventory of Oklahoma's 1922 crop year was marked, more especially, with a considerable increase in value over the year previous. The total value of 14 leading field crops was placed at $204,743,000 as compared with $113,755,000 in 1921. The December first price was used as a basis inasmuch as it is generally considered as near the yearly average as possible. This increase of approximately 61,000,000 over last year will at least lend encouragement to agricultural folk, business men and the entire populace of the state. The valuation given above does not include the value of minor crops and of fruit. Apples, peaches and pears carried a total of $4,367,000 practically three times the value of 1921 and double that of 1920.

For the purpose of showing the relative prosperity of various sections of the state so far as the value of 11 principal crops are concerned, the following tabulation is given. The first eleven crops, according to value, were taken and applied to all districts. As a few sections do not produce several of the crops commercially, their valuation was based on eight or ten crops as it may be. The districts were weighted according to their usual share of production and the figures are considered as nearly accurate as possible for the crops taken. The approximate value of livestock and livestock products, by sections, will be given in a later issue. For those who are not acquainted with the counties in each district named, a map will be mailed upon request.

Northwest district	$21,522,000
Southwest	33,790,000
Central	36,350,000
Northeast	14,829,000
Southeast	12,141,000
West Central	19,566,000
North Central	17,056,000
South Central	23,434,000
East Central	23,661,000

The Northwest section leads all other districts in the value of the wheat crop, the total being $9,524,000. The Central section surpassed in the value of the corn crop, the value $7,661,000, in the value of cotton, the Southwest district carried a total of $18,174,000. The Northeast district took honors in the value of oats, the total $3,240,000. The Northwest section again took first place in the value of the kafir crop, $6,107,000.

Prices of agricultural products this year as a general rule exceeded those of 1921, but in several instances the price was not as high as in 1920. The crops of corn, oats, hay and cotton brought better prices this year than for the past two years.

A report from the war finance corporation indicates that there is a slight trend toward prosperity. The repayments received by the corporation from January 1, 1922, to December 15th, 1922, inclusive, on account of all loans totaled $176,120,609. J. A. WHITEHURST, President State Board of Agriculture.

College Grads to Erect Club Rooms to House Members

(By the Associated Press)

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—College men and women of Greater Boston have in prospect a club home, to be built at an estimated cost of $1,600,000 under plans of a committee of the present University Club, the sponsor of the project. With the existing organization as a nucleus, the University Club is expected ultimately to have a membership of 5,000.

There are known to be 28,000 persons, alumni of 237 colleges and universities, resident within 50 miles of the city, who are eligible to membership. Separate organizations are now maintained by graduates of 71 of these institutions. The present University Club was organized in 1892 at the suggestion of Amherst men, whose idea was to form a luncheon club.

Specifications of the new structure for a building in the Renaissance style, of limestone and brick. The basement will contain squash courts, swimming tank, billiard and pool room, barber shop and locker room. The two floors next above will include dining and grill rooms for both men and women, reception rooms, library, lounging and guest rooms. The third floor will be given over to women's use and the fourth and fifth floors will consist of sleeping quarters.

The first round the world voyage was made in 1522. Five vessels set out, with 280 officers and men, but only one vessel and 31 men returned.

Thoughts—for You

The world's greatest inventors would be wasting their talents if their creations were such that they interested no one else—and unless some one else were able to enjoy them and benefit by them.

Nothing amounts to much that is confined to one person or to a limited group. Stop and think for a minute! Isn't it because thoughts are so easily exchanged and spread broadcast that this country is so fine a place to live in?

The advertisements in this paper are thoughts. Many of them are thoughts conceived with you in mind—thoughts for your comfort—your pleasure—your health—your satisfaction. Thoughts that will save you time, money and comfort.

Do you take full advantage of them? Do you read them, every day?

LUTHER BURBANK WARNS OF DETERIORATION OF RACE

LUTHER BURBANK

"The United States is producing more lunatics, more criminals, more men of fine ability, as well as more men of no ability than any other nation," declares Luther Burbank in the January issue of Hearst's International Magazine.

"Racial improvement, like plant improvement, is all a matter of heredity, environment, selection and crossing of types. The United States at this moment is the scene of such furious crossing of types as never before took place anywhere.

"We are making very little use of the opportunity for racial improvement that sex gives us. We are little more than a field of human weeds in which, here and there, is a superior type.

"Nature is so plastic that it is a crime to waste her forces. Plants are distant relatives. A flower is sometimes like a child rooted to the ground and a man suggests tree that walks. With proper heredity, environment, selection and crossing, we can do with plant life almost what we will. Why should we neglect to do with human stock what we will?

"In human breeding as in plant breeding, there is no substitute for intelligent selection and crossing. One law governs all. 'We are only at the beginning of plant improvement.

"I have worked for more than sixty years and have learned something not only about plant life, but also about human life. The strongest conviction I have is that what can be done with plants can be done with human beings—and must be done if our civilization is not to be overwhelmed by the unfit."

Mr. Burbank, who evolved the Burbank potato, who removed the spines from the cactus, who gave a tree one hundred years growth in ten years, who made walnut meats large and the shells thin, and has produced the greatest marvels of plant breeding the world has ever known, discusses the dangers threatening civilization today, in an article entitled, "What Plants Have Taught Me About Men."

THEY ARE HERE

I have already received a shipment of Pennsylvania Vacuum Cup casings. Ford sizes and will have all other sizes in a few days. This is known to be the best casing manufactured. In order to place this tire before the tire users of this surrounding community, I am going to give a heavy duty innertube with every casing free. Call and look them over. If you see any one using the Vacuum cup, just ask him how he is pleased with it. I HANDLE THE BEST. When you buy at the A-1 Filling Station you buy an A-1 Product. Don't forget that your crank case needs draining every 500 miles, this is more to your interest than mine. "I don't only drain it but wash it for you free."

No more Rheumatism

"Suffering has gone from your face, mother!"

S. S. S. Is the Great Builder of Red Blood-Cells and Rheumatism Must Go! Just Try It!

"Rheumatism? Me? No, indeed, it's all gone, every bit of it! It's sunshine and joy for me now for the first time in years. I feel a wonderful glow again in the free motion I used to have when my days were younger. I look at all my hands and think of the twists and swellings they used to have. I bend way over to the floor. I haven't been able to do that in many years. I can thank S. S. S. for it all! To me it was a rising sun of joy and liberty. Brothers and sisters in misery, do not close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. It is here and now for all of you. S. S. S. is waiting to help you. There is a reason why S. S. S. will help you. When you increase the number of your red-blood cells, the entire system undergoes a tremendous change. Everything depends on blood-strength. Blood which is minus sufficient red-cells leads to a long list of troubles. Rheumatism is one of them. S. S. S. is the great blood-cleanser, blood-builder, system-strengthening, nerve-regulator. It stops skin eruptions, too, pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema. It builds up run-down, tired men and women, beautifies complexion, makes the flesh firm and start S. S. S. today. It is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Woman Relied Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Emporia, Kansas.—"I began using Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine years ago when I was a girl. For several years I had severe pains at menstrual periods, making me very weak and interfering with my regular duties. I tried several remedies without obtaining relief. I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by friends and it restored me to normal health. I often have occasion and do recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to my own. You may use these facts as a testimonial."

EVA ALDRICH, 218 Union St., Emporia, Kansas.

There are many women who first used our Vegetable Compound during their girlhood days. They found it a valuable help during trying periods. In later years they use it whenever they feel those annoying symptoms which women often have.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is prepared carefully from the best quality of medicinal plants, whose properties are especially adapted to correct the troubles women have.

Inequality Distribution State School Funds Now One of Ills in System

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 29.—Inequalities in distribution of state school moneys are seen as one of the most serious defects of the present educational system of the state, in a report prepared by a group of experts of the U. S. bureau of education to be presented to the ninth legislature.

The present method of distribution, according to the report, "is the most unscientific, the most antiquated and the most unfair of all the many methods of distributing state school funds employed at the present time." The money is apportioned in the basis of enumeration of school children in various counties between the ages of 6 and 21 years.

The report recommends that the school ages be changed to from 5 to 18 years, and that a thorough school census be taken by teachers and school authorities, and that the children be given on the basis of the number of children actually in school.

"Apportioning of school moneys on the basis of enumeration places no premium upon school attendance, length of school term, the number of months a teacher is employed, high salary and high qualifications of teachers, nor the effort to provide a good school as evidenced by the levying of a liberal tax," the report says.

"Worse than this, it actually serves in some communities to encourage non-attendance. It does not give state moneys to the children actually in school, or even the number of teachers employed, which determines what schools cost," the report continues.

"If a state is to equalize school burden she must in her method of distributing aid take into consideration not only the number of teachers employed, but she must take into consideration both differences in ability to provide school revenue as measured by wealth per child, and differences in effort as

BARBECUE FEAST TO CLAIM STATE

Thousands to Attend Gala Event; Entertainment Plans Complete.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 29.—The serving of the barbecue at the state fair grounds at 1 o'clock the afternoon of January 9 will mark for the thousands of expected visitors, the highlight of the inaugural ceremonies for Governor-elect J. C. Walton. The festivities, however, will begin with a review of the Oklahoma national guard by Gov. J. B. A. Robertson the afternoon of January 7, and with a dance to which every citizen and visitor in Oklahoma is invited at the state capitol the evening of January 10.

The official program for the ceremonies was made public here today by Dan V. Lackey, chairman of the committee in charge of the occasion. It schedules four days of activity and interest. The festivities will take place, for the most part, at the state fair grounds or the capitol building.

The formal, official inaugural ceremony will be at noon January 8 in the chamber of the house of representatives, at a joint session of the legislature. The oath of office will be administered to the new governor at that time. The public inauguration will be at noon the next day, under a loud speaking device at the state fair grounds, with the two houses of the legislature grouped on the platform, according to the program.

measured by the rate of local tax.

It was stated in the report that in 1921, out of every $100 devoted to public schools in Oklahoma the state furnished $9.00. "Small as this amount is," the report said, "it could be made to play an important part in equalizing school burdens and educational opportunities. Oklahoma disburses her state school funds among the counties, which in turn disburse the amounts thus received among the districts within the county on the basis of number of children enumerated."

A comparison of the amounts paid to various districts for the children actually in school shows that, where as in theory Oklahoma gives to the district the same amount of state aid for each school child, as a matter of fact there is no equality in the amounts distributed and that districts receive for the children they are actually educating, according to the report, which goes on to say:

"An example of the results of apportioning state aid on the basis of enumeration is that Helena receives from the state $1.80 for each child actually in school and McManis $3.54 for each child actually in school, yet McManis is more than six times as able to pay school revenue as Helena, and has in attendance only 60 percent of its enumeration, whereas the attendance at Helena is 313 percent of its enumeration."

"District number 51 in Cimarron county is seventeen times as able to provide school revenue as district number 35. District 35 levies a 9 mill tax, but is able to spend only $51 per child, whereas district 15 levies a 4 mill tax and spends $395 per child. Yet the richer district gets from the state $81 for each child in school, while the poorer gets only $3.00."

The report says that the richest county in the state is more than seven times as able to provide school revenues as the poorest county in the state.

Immediately after the formal inauguration at the capitol the League of Young Democrats will hold an open house reception at the capitol. The new governor will review the state militia in the afternoon.

The inaugural parade will be Tuesday morning, January 9. It will move entirely across the city, forming at the corner of Reno, Western and Exchange avenues. Thence it will proceed north on Western avenue to Main street, east on Main street to Broadway, north on Broadway to Seventh street, then east to the fair grounds at the edge of the city. The public inaugural which will follow immediately will in turn be followed by the serving of the barbecue.

In the afternoon Governor and Mrs. Walton will have a reception at the automobile building at the fair grounds, and state officials and legislators and their wives will act as co-hosts and hostesses with the chief executive and his wife. There will be dancing at the automobile building in the evening, and on outdoor platforms which have been erected in the race track enclosure.

Meanwhile, throughout Tuesday, a contest will be under way which will end with the choosing by "competent judges," according to the announcement, of "the best looking woman over forty years of age." Judging of county booths will also be Tuesday, and each county will be allowed ten minutes for its feature entertainment.

Tuesday evening will be the "entertainers' contest at the livestock exhibit building at the fair grounds. This event is expected to bring out the best old-time fiddlers and "hoe-down" dancers of the state, as well as artists in other lines.

Wednesday evening there will be a women's entertainment at the Liberty theater downtown in honor of Mrs. Emily Blair, democratic national committee woman.

Wednesday evening different dances for persons of various ages will be given on each floor of the state capitol building. On the base-

It is attracting much attention.

MODEL STORES IN NEW CORPORATION

Quicksilver in Combine; Headquarters to be Located Here.

A new corporation, to be known as the Scheinberg-Quicksilver corporation, is being formed in Ada, according to an announcement yesterday by Harry Scheinberg, a member of the new corporation.

Headquarters for the corporation will be in Ada. It will own and control the Model stores at Ada, Okemah and Henryetta and the Hub stores at Tulsa, Wichita Falls and Breckridge, Texas. Purchasing agency for the concern will be in the Silk Exchange building of St. Louis.

Ben Scheinberg will head the corporation and expects to arrive in Ada in February to open his office in the Model store here. For some time the six stores, owned by the Scheinbergs, have been operating on a co-operative basis, and it was finally decided to organize a corporation to control them.

Stocks for the six houses will be bought wholesale in St. Louis and distributed, eliminating the "middle-man" Mr. Mr. Scheinberg explained. In this manner the Model and Hub stores will get their goods direct from the manufacturers at the very lowest prices and can therefore offer them at lower prices, permitting the consumer to buy goods and retain the profit which usually goes to the "middleman."

Rapid growth of the Model clothiers is due to the good management on the part of its owners, it is said. The six stores included in the corporation are among the leading men's furnishing stores in the six cities where they are located.

Ada is the home of the first of the stores organized. Its history dates back as far as 1900, but the present owners have had control for only about ten years. More than two years ago the store at Henryetta was purchased and later the Okemah store opened. Then the Breckridge and Wichita Falls stores were taken over and last came the purchase of the Hub at Tulsa, located in the heart of the downtown business district.

ment floor the state highway department will be host and old-fashioned dances only will be allowed.

On the first floor minuets and other old dances will be under way, with the Women's Democratic club as hostess. Mrs. J. M. Schwoerke, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Emily Withington, of the Walton Booster club.

STILLWATER—Garfield county is to have a new county agricultural agent January 1, it has been announced here. J. A. Leard, now agent, has resigned and Herbert Graham, who graduated at Oklahoma A. and M. college last year, and has been assistant agent in Osage county will take his place.

ISMET PASHA DEMANDS MOSUL OIL HOLDINGS

LAUSANNE, Dec. 29.—Ismet Pasha sent a letter to Marquis Curzon this afternoon reaffirming his demands that the Mosul district with its valuable oil fields be turned over to Turkey. The note denied the British contention that the Kurds who inhabited the district are not friendly to the Turks and want Mosul to remain under the government of Iraq.

Thompson Claims College Will Have Winning Team Again.

Baseball in colleges during the coming year will be given more attention that it has in ten years, according to the opinion of Coach M. Z. Thompson, head of athletics at East Central college, after attending a meeting of the Oklahoma Intercollegiate conference at Oklahoma City recently.

Coach Thompson said that while together the coaches of all colleges in the conference discussed baseball and it was found that all of the colleges would support baseball teams this year. East Central college won the championship last year and Thompson said that the demand for games with his team was more than he could meet.

It is significant that four of the sixteen games he will play will be with Oklahoma A. & M. college. He has not decided whether to ask for games with University of Oklahoma yet, although he believed one or two games could be scheduled.

He did not say who other teams would be, but it was indicated that Baptist University, Kingfisher college, Phillips and Southeastern of Durant would be included on the schedule. Central college at Edmond also may be given dates.

Thompson points out that East Central is the strongest baseball college in Oklahoma. Three men who have played baseball at the college in recent years are to "go up" next year. Blankenship is already in the big league and Wamer and Vernon are signed up for try-outs in 1923.

With the loss of Vernon and Wamer, Thompson has been looking about for new material to take their places. He is confident that among the many new men enrolled in the college that he will be able to build a strong team.

Burkhart, Culver, Tinkle, Montgomery, Miller, Morrison, Harrison, Evans, Williams, Clary, Brown and several others are good men he will have on his line-up. Brown and Morrison are strongest candidates for the mound. Clary will fill the plate position and Evans, Williams, Burkhart, Harrison and Storhm will be placed in the field. Eddie Miller, one of the strongest infielders, will be at short stop, Tinkle at third, Montgomery at second and Brown and Morrison will take turns at pitching and playing first, according to the tentative line-up at this time.

OKLAHOMA CITY—Mrs. Margaret Allen of Evans City, Pa., seeks news of the whereabouts of her father, James Johnston, whom she has not seen since 1910, according to a letter she wrote to Gov. J. B. A. Robertson. She said her father, now 67 years old, went to the 101 Ranch near Ponca City to see his sister, Mrs. Eliza J. Williams, then disappeared.

Don't cry, little girl. There, little girl, don't cry. They have lengthened your skirts. I know; But don't you fret, You're a long way yet, From the girls of long ago, They have added an inch or two, But there little girl, don't cry, For the frisky breeze, Still shows your knees, As the race of men go by.

COURT FIGHT INVOLVING $46 GOES TO SUPREME COURT

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 29.—A three-year court fight, carried from one of the lowest courts to the highest court in the state, involving a debt ranging in the views of the parties litigant, from nothing to $46.00 has been settled by a supreme court decision.

The finding assessed the debt at $38.80.

The decision was in favor of W. A. Watson, who drilled a 36-foot water well for J. W. Cherry, in Lincoln county, in 1919. In a justice of the peace court Watson asked $46 and was awarded $36 for his services. The case was appealed to the district court and the amount was increased to $38.80 by Judge Ira E. Billingslea. The supreme court upheld the decision of Judge Billingslea.
